

I urge you to retain the current laws limiting media ownership & preventing further media consolidation. Media diversity has already suffered following the 1996 FCC changes, and will surely be choked even further if the present rule changes being considered are enacted.

The airwaves are a public right, analogous to air or water. Allowing a very few dominant media companies to control the vast majority of broadcast space is a serious blow for democracy.